Estate jewellery inventory

A blank working sheet for jewellery, coins and silverware. Keep original photographs securely with this sheet and use the same item references on both.

Estate reference (optional): _____ Date of death: _____

Item ref.	Description Distinguishing features	Photo filename(s) Whole item and details	Family decision Keep / consider for sale / undecided	Observed marks Record what you see; do not assume purity	Date-of-death open market value Figure, valuer or source, valuation date	Current buyer offer reference Separate from estate value. Offer date and document reference

Before deciding: photograph each piece, including visible marks. Keep sentimental pieces aside. Do not clean, alter or arrange melting before the family has decided what to keep and the person authorised to act has agreed any sale.

Keep the two figures separate: estate value concerns open market value at the date of death. A current buyer's offer concerns a proposed purchase now and may differ. GoldPaid is a buyer; its purchase offer is not an independent or formal probate valuation.

This blank sheet is not a completed valuation report or legal or tax advice. Where you need a formal valuation or are unsure about authority to sell, consult the estate's professional adviser or an appropriate independent valuer. Use additional copies for larger collections.
